The winners of this year's Tripwire Awards were announced in a ceremony held Monday on YouTube. Organized by the long-running UK entertainment magazine Tripwire, the awards are "to celebrate the best in U.K. and U.S. comics over the past 12 months."

The nominees for this year's awards were decided by a panel of judges, with the awards then open to the public for a final decision.

"Despite the fact that we couldn't do a physical ceremony, we felt that we had to do something to announce these awards to the comics community," Tripwire editor-in-chief Joel Meadows said in the awards' announcement. "And so many people from our community have stepped up to give us their acceptance speeches via video. Comics creators and publishers are always keen to support each other and we have been very gratified by what we have received."
